“Everyone, no matter where they were born and under what circumstances, deserves an equal shot at a healthy, safe and fulfilling life. With these ambitious new Global Goals, the world is setting out to achieve just that – and to do so in our lifetime. I look forward to all of us at Pearson being able to say that we played our part in making that happen.”

- John Fallon - CEO, Pearson

Pearson will help reach this goal through our core business activities, social impact programmes, campaigns, advocacy and by partnering with others.

In India, our Pearson IndiaCan business delivers vocational training programmes for marginalised rural youth, and matches them with employment opportunities.

We are collaborating on a series of events with UNICEF UK to explore innovative technology trends in search of a better future for children.

Since 2009, Pearson has been climate neutral for our directly controlled operations and reduced our absolute carbon footprint by 22%.

We develop and produce curriculums and educational materials on ocean and water resources to educate future marine experts.

In 2015, we donated 800,000 unsold books to Book Aid International to support the development of libraries across sub-Saharan Africa.

Our ‘Every Child Learning’ partnership with Save the Children aims to improve access to quality education for children in emergency and conflict settings.

We participate in multi-stakeholder initiatives that aim to influence how we collectively achieve the Global Goals e.g. the Global Business Coalition for Education.
